Role redirects

Regenerating the screenshots

Screenshot → route map

A walkthrough of the three core journeys in Easy Rent, illustrated with real screenshots captured by Playwright:

1. Renter (public / tenant) — discover, filter, and contact a landlord.
2. Landlord — list and manage a property.
3. Admin / Ops — back-office: approvals, business accounts, settings, visibility.

How these were captured. Screenshots are generated by `e2e/capture-flows.spec.ts` (Playwright, real Chromium) against a locally seeded Easy Rent stack — the live site is not used because its documented seed accounts are all `tenant`-role (so the back-office renders empty) and its marketplace is currently unpopulated. The local seed provides ~400 sample listings (254 active) across 26 landlords / 10 business accounts, plus properly-roled `admin` / `landlord` / `tenant` accounts, so these views reflect a realistic, populated app. To regenerate, see Regenerating the screenshots.

Related: route/role map → APP\_OVERVIEW.md · full QA matrix → LAUNCH\_TEST\_PLAN.md · end-user behaviour → USER\_MANUAL.md.

1. Renter flow

The renter journey requires no login — browsing and contacting landlords is open to everyone. (A signed-in tenant gets the same experience; after sign-in a `tenant` is redirected to `/listings` — see Role redirects.)

1.1 Land on the homepage ( / )

The marketing homepage leads with the value proposition (verified, mid-to-long-term Sri Lanka rentals) and two primary CTAs — Browse Listings and List Your Property.

3.7 Visibility activation (Boost / Featured / Urgent)

Visibility activation is admin API-only ( `POST /api/listings/[id]/{boost|feature|urgent|bundle}` ), performed after offline payment is confirmed. A landlord requesting visibility from their dashboard ($2.5) gets a `403` if they try to self-activate. Active visibility drives the search ranking: Featured → Boost → Urgent → plan tier → verified → completeness → newest.

Role redirects

After sign-in ( `app/(login)/actions.ts` ):

| Role        | Lands on                |
|-------------|-------------------------|
| tenant      | <code>/listings</code>  |
| landlord    | <code>/dashboard</code> |
| ops / admin | <code>/dashboard</code> |

Regenerating the screenshots

With a seeded local stack running and `pnpm dev` serving `http://localhost:3000` :

BASE_URL=http://localhost:3000 \
ADMIN_EMAIL=admin@easyrent.com ADMIN_PASSWORD=admin123 \
LANDLORD_EMAIL=landlord@test.com LANDLORD_PASSWORD=landlord123 \
TENANT_EMAIL=tenant@test.com TENANT_PASSWORD=tenant123 \
ALLOW_MUTATION=1 pnpm exec playwright test e2e/capture-flows.spec.ts -- project=desktop

Screenshots are written to `docs/screenshots/` with stable names, so re-running overwrites them in place and this document stays in sync. The capture spec is best-effort: any optional control that isn't present is skipped (logged as `[SKIP]` ) rather than failing the run.
